

Nadje Al-Ali, Senior Lecturer at the Institute of Arab and Islamic Studies, University of Exeter, speaks about “Iraqi Women Between Dictatorships, Wars, Sanctions and Occupation” on April 9, 2007, at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies.

Al-Ali discussed the lives of Iraqi women from the 1970s to the present. Her lecture was one of the Mershon Center’s best attended of the year and was widely covered in the media.